A Touching Letter from Mack Ferrell.

(Editor Interior Journal.)

STANFORD JAIL, Oct. 4.—If you will kindly give me space in your paper I would like to express my gratitude for the kindness that has been shown me. First to my people, whom I will never cease to love. Secondly to the kind and christian friends who have extended to me their sympathy and good advice during my incarceration. But a few days remain until the grated doors, the gloomy walls, the cold and dismal cell and convict's garb of the State prison sever my life from theirs. God and God alone knows that now nor never did I harbor any malice toward anybody, and so help me God, that to-day after mature deliberation and not under sudden fear of my own life, if I had a thousand lives I would give them all in that many forms if I could bring back my friend, the kind and loving husband, the fond and indulgent father. I wish to extend my heartfelt devotion to my friends and especially to my counsel that did all in their power in my defense. To the ministers and christian ladies who have given to me good advice in the salvation of my soul, but they know that for such they will be rewarded, and also do I wish to thank those who have had charge of me during my imprisonment. To my family, of course, I bid to them the saddest adieu; to my poor old mother, to a loving sister and brothers, I can simply say, think of me as little as possible, trust in an all-merciful God, hold no ill feeling or malice against anybody and in a better hereafter I hope to meet you. And in conclusion, I will say to my young associates that my prayers will ever be for them. Stay at home with your fathers and mothers, heed their advice, shun all places, if possible, where there is any probability that in defense of your own life you will have to take life. With these few words of parting, I resign myself as best I can to my living tomb. Very Respectfully Yours, MACK FERRELL.

The Races at Lexington to be Run.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

[This letter was intended for last paper but did not reach here till Friday morning. Ed.]
LEXINGTON, Oct. 5th.—I see in Monday's INTERIOR JOURNAL, which, by the way, does not reach here until Wednesday morning, that you have been made to believe that there will be no fall running races here. That is a very flat mistake. The programs are already printed and there will be nine days' running for purses of $250, five or more races each day, beginning Oct. 16th, and more than one Lincoln county horse will compete for the purses, small though they are, and some first-class horses will be here to race from other places. Stable room has been asked for such a number that all the yearlings here have been ordered off the track to accommodate those that will race during the meeting. So, if you have not thrown aside all your taste for speculation, you can come and bring your friends with you; it will be at least equal to investments at Middlesboro, Pineville, etc.

Could Latonia have gone on uninterrupted, there would have been troubled acquiescence here. But when the rumors grew into a threatening storm to prohibit pool-selling throughout the State, if Latonia ignored the rights of all other meetings, the modest manager of that course decided to discontinue. However the breeders and board of this association had already determined to give the usual meeting here anyway. The Cumberland Park Association at Nashville had so determined too, and so now they go on without nearly conflicting meetings.

The Cincinnati Enquirer is a great paper, but it cannot run the race courses of this country—just yet a little while—and all the prompting encouragement it gave did not avail against the sentiment, the proposition to continue at Latonia stirred throughout the country. Tho' it did succeed in its cry against Hardy Durham, in getting him ruled off that course (suspended indefinitely) when he was trying to win. But it was necessary to do something and he fell under the ban. The man who bought Rook Laidly—as honest a turfman as lives, has raced him repeatedly since and won nothing. But when a monkey quill-driver loses his cigars, or a whole $2 bill on his "selection" he is romping rampant ready to decapitate somebody.

STANFORDITE.

—E. M. Cooker, of Pulaski, who was tried in Louisville last week for illicit whisky selling. His plan was to keep himself hidden from public gaze, an innocent looking wooded bucket hanging from a small window in the second story being apparently the only guilty party. The would-be purchaser simply put the money and a bottle in the swinging bucket and it disappeared up stairs, returning presently with the liquor which the money called for. Cooker laid it on his mother-in-law, Mrs. Shepard, but the jury found him guilty.

—Frederick Mitchell has returned home after a three months' stay in Louisville.

Another Dark-Eyed Widow Playing the Deuce With Bobbitt in the Mountains.

(To the Editor Interior Journal.)

PINEVILLE, Oct. 6.—Court is still making haste slowly, with 1,200 civil cases on the docket. What a field for Judge J. W. Alcorn, who is as familiar with petitions, demurrers, answers, replies, rejoinders, sur-rejoinders, rebutters and sur-rebutters as I am with Blackstone and "Russell on Crimes."

I did not speak here last night, saving my throat for the John Martin murder trial set for to-day. This court is to continue five weeks. This is the finest place to stay I ever saw except Crab Orchard. Quite an episode occurred in the courthouse yesterday.

A little curly-headed girl came running in and in a loud voice said: "Mr. Bobbitt, sister said for you to come down there." The bar and spectators roared with laughter and even Judge Hall, who never laughs more than King Henry the 4th, was seen to smile audibly. I followed the little girl, blushing deeply, and when I arrived at the stately mansion where the lady was stopping, I found a beautiful woman dressed like a princess. She said "And this is the celebrated orator, Fontaine Fox Bobbitt?" To which I modestly assented. For more than two hours I was highly entertained by a most elegant lady. In a few days she will take her departure for Knoxville, where she resides. Another dark-eyed widow now holds my heart in thrall. She lives in Perry county and innocently said "Papa is worth $40,000." I said "I am very sorry to hear it. My magnificent blue-grass farm and half-hundred short-horn milk cows lowing to their calves across my barn yard gate will not induce you to migrate to Crab Orchard. You must get the old gentleman to invest his fortune in some hazardous enterprise so he will lose all his money and then perhaps I can induce you to go with me."

In talking of engagements she said she did not believe in long engagements. She said when lovers are young it is well enough, but when they are getting along in life like we are there is no time to wait. This was rather withering on a man who prides himself on his youthful appearance. But I told her the greatest earthly pleasure was dancing on the threshold of wedlock; that marriage was like a brilliant taper's light, placed in a window on a summer's night. Attracting all the insects of the air. To come and sing their pretty wickets there.

Those who are without but heads against the pain. And those within but to get out again. I escorted the widow to the train and saw her safely seated and then she said: "Mr. Bobbitt, when shall I expect a letter?" I said, "I expect it will beat you home."

I will now relate the sharp practice of a Pineville boy, aged 10 years. He was at the Barbourville Fair, there was a wreck on the railroad at Hazel Patch. He could not get home, he had no dinner, no supper and only had a nickel. He went into a restaurant and asked for a half can of oysters. They could not cut a can. He then found they had some cider. He asked if they would sell him a pint for a nickel. Yes. He bought a pint, put it in a bottle and went out and sold it for whisky for 50 cents, came back, ate his supper and had 25 cents left. I told him if he could just keep out of the penitentiary he would soon be a rich man.

Well, court has convened and I shall have to desist and send this letter to the great pioneer of civilization, the INTERIOR JOURNAL. FONTAINE FOX BOBBITT.

Complimentary to Miss Kate White.

Read before the McKendree S. S., the second Sunday of Oct. 1893.

Your committee beg to submit the following report:

Whereas our mutual friend and co-worker, Miss Kate White, has yielded herself to the call to missionary work in foreign fields and will take her leave of us to-morrow morning for A. B. Simpson's training school in New York City.

Resolved.—That we extend to her the most sincere gratitude for the faithful manner in which she has discharged her duty as a Sunday-school worker and as a christian emulor.

2. That we recognize the fact that in the severing of her connection with this school we sustain an irreparable loss but we submit to the fate of an all-wise guidance.

3. That we commend Miss White to her new association as a faithful christian worker and worthy of imitation for her many christian graces and fidelity.

4. That this entire school tender to her their best wishes with their prayers that an all-wise Providence will ever guide and direct her course unto the perfect day.

5. That a copy of these resolutions be presented to Miss White and also spread upon the Sunday-school record book in memory of her christian character.

—The Laurel county court of claims met Monday.

—Circuit court has been in session a week and will continue two more. The first person sent to the penitentiary was a young fellow by the name of W. F. Gragg was deputy town marshal at the time of the killing. Smith Evans, for shooting Rolly Beatty in the hand, is imprisoned six months in the county jail and fined $100.

The next-heaviest sentence is given to Chris Jackson, a young lawyer, $100 and 40 days for carrying concealed weapons.

All other cases tried have been misdemeanors of small importance. The grand jury has returned only one felony indictment. This was against some Breathitt county parties on a charge of house breaking. Several other indictments for whisky selling, pistols, &c., have been returned. Ira J. Davidson is acting as circuit clerk and is doing a splendid job of it. He was clerk of Perry county for 16 years and A. B. Brown is using him as a substitute on account of the serious sickness of his youngest child. John and Jim Gray and Chris Catching are serving out small fines in the county jail. Hons. W. O. Bradley and J. A. Craft are prominent visiting attorneys.

Mr. Gus Hofmann, who has so ably conducted the Springs, will prepare the banquet, and as he never does anything by halves, it goes without saying that everything will be tip top.

—A pleasing part of the services at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning was a beautiful vocal solo by Miss Christine McGregor, of Louisville, who is visiting Miss Ellen Owsley. Miss McGregor has a fine natural voice that has received the highest training, both in this country and Europe. Her rendition of the difficult selection referred to was worthy of the highest praises and received the commendation of the best musicians who were in attendance. She was accompanied by Mrs. R. A. Buraside on the organ and received many congratulations at the close of the service, the church being filled with a large and attentive audience. Rev. J. R. Terry, by his able and earnest expositions of the Scriptures has not only made a host of friends, but has attracted to the church large and appreciative congregations.

Nashville, Tenn., March 6, 1893.—The Stockton Medicine Co., Nashville, Tenn., Gentlemen: It gives me exceeding pleasure to speak of your Antiseptic, as I consider it something wonderful in the way of medicine. My old servant, Albert, who is 72 years old, was very sick with Pneumonia, complicated with Heart Trouble and Dropsy. I called in my family physician and gave him every attention, but the doctor finally told me there was no hope and the only thing that could be done was to make him comfortable until the end. At this point I decided to give him Stockton's Antiseptic, as it seemed to be performing almost miracles for others. It was given in regular doses every three hours and the fever began to decrease from the first dose and a decided improvement was noticed the first day. In three days he was sitting up and in a week he was back at his work as usual, and is regaining in strength very fast. I conscientiously believe it saved the old man's life. Respectfully yours, FRANK SEARIGHT, No. 5 Noel Block, Stanford.

SENATOR BLACKBURN went back to Washington professing to believe that the people of Kentucky are with him in his stand against the repeal of the silver bill, but he evidently talked only with a few of his ardent admirers, who think the sun rises and sets in his person and therefore that he is beyond human to err. If he could take a week off, however, and get in closer touch with the dear people, he would find like young Congressman Bryan, of Nebraska, that they are by no means at his back. They want the bill repealed and are tired of the vexatious delay permitted by the democratic majority in the Senate. A meeting of the solid business men in Louisville disclosed the general feeling of the people of the State when it protested against Senator Blackburn's attitude on the bill and urged him to vote for the repeal. If the Senator would be wise in his day and generation he will heed the warning to cease to oppose the interests of sound money.

YOUNG MR. BRYAN, of Nebraska, who made some reputation as an orator against the repeal of the Sherman bill, is not riding so high a horse as he was. He claimed that his people were at his back on the question, but alas for him, he was as much mistaken as if he had burned his shirt. They not only do not endorse his course, but on the contrary quite the reverse. They demanded the repeal of the bill and to show Mr. Bryan how they hold him in estimation they defeated him for committeeman on resolutions by a vote of 375 to 123. If the Virginians would set down on Senator Daniel as heavily, if the Alabamians would shelve Senator Morgan for the same offense and Kentucky retire Joe Blackburn, each and all of them would do the right thing, and teach those learned and opinionated Statesmen that their will is the law, to which they must subordinate the pride of their own ill advised ideas.

A HOT-HEADED Virginia youth, who was offended at a publication in the Richmond Times, which brought him into ridicule, challenged the editor, Joseph Bryan, who had refused to retract, to mortal combat. The editor very quietly informed him in answer to the challenge that the days of duelling had passed and that that kind of a settlement of differences between gentlemen no longer obtained. It had been made a felony by the Legislature and as the editor professed to be a good citizen and a Christian he would have to decline to become a voluntary law breaker. The letter has created quite a sensation, as even with the law the "code" is frequently resorted to in the settlement of differences in the Old Dominion.

SEVERAL years ago a sensation was created by a baby being left on the door step of Judge Van Young, afterwards judge of the superior court. It was a pretty child with an intelligent face and the judge and his wife, who had no issue decided to adopt it as their own, after reading the note pinned to it requesting that they do so. It now turns out that the child was the offspring of the illicit attachment of Col. Breckinridge and Miss Pollard and it is to cut quite a figure in the trial of the suit. The boy is called Stoddard Young, is in his 9th year and said to resemble his father very strikingly.

In the two branches of Congress there are 82 ex-confederate soldiers and only 61 ex-union soldiers. The reason that so many more confederate soldiers are honored than union is obvious. In the South the best men went to war in support of a principle. The union force was composed to a large extent of foreigners and men who entered the army for the money there was in it. In every community in the South the men who fought for the lost cause are the leading citizens, not so much because they so fought, but because they are the brains and dependence of the communities.

BOOKER REED has accepted the nomination of sore-head democrats and designing republicans for mayor of Louisville. "His whiskers" have been growing from bad to worse for some time and no man has fallen faster or lower in public estimation than the ex-mayor, who managed the affairs of Louisville so well for a time that he had many favorable suggestions that he was fit gubernatorial timber. But Booker is rising now for the third and last time. The waves of oblivion will soon hide from view his tall and angular form and the wind blow no more through his whiskers forever.

At last Senator Voorhees has decided to take the bit in his mouth and force the democratic majority in the Senate to shoot or give up the gun. He has given notice that after next Wednesday's meeting he will ask that the session be continued till a vote on the repeal bill is taken. Congress has been in session over two months now and certainly that has been enough and much too much talk. The time for action has long since arrived. Let Senator Voorhees, the acknowledged leader in the Senate, see that the people's demand is respected.

A WOMAN who died in New Jersey, last week, aged 105, attributed her unusual longevity to the fact that she never had worn corsets. So few women can go without them however and look decent that even the probability of tarrying long in the land that the Lord their God has given them, will not prove of sufficient inducement. One of the loveliest girls we know is said to stand a chance of living 105 years, but all women are not built like she is.

COL. INGERSOLL, who is lecturing in Kentucky, says he has not been engaged to fight the Separate Coach bill. There is no good reason for the colored people to object to be separated from the whites if they are given as good accommodations and they will be wise to quietly submit, as they seem to be doing so far.

—Elders Button and Masters, after a glorious revival at Harlan C. H., have organized a Christian church with 40 members. Harlan county is said to be making rapid strides in religion and education and as it does so the people are naturally becoming democratic in politics.

—In the 21 churches composing the Tate's Creek Association of United Baptists there are 2,655 members. During the year ending Aug. 25, there were received by Baptism 139, by letter 58 and relation 3, making a total of 200; there was a decrease by letter, expulsion and death of 111, making a net increase of 89.

—Rev. John T. Jack, of Washington, D. C., is so much opposed to the liquor traffic that he is not at all times able to contain himself. Some days ago he was charged with smashing liquor exhibits at the World's Fair and he is now in jail for throwing a rock through a large plate glass into a bar-room in Washington and doing some $500 damage.

—The Christian Endeavor organized Sunday afternoon by the election of P. M. McKelroy, Esq., president, Miss Lucy A. Johns, vice-president, Miss Alice Holmes, treasurer, and James Beazley, secretary. A. URBANSKY, Proprietor.

—W. P. Carson sold to Johnson, of Boyle, seven 1,200-lb. cattle at 3c and a lot of hogs at 4½c.

—It was 3½c that E. P. Woods gave Col. W. H. Dudderar for the cattle mentioned in our last.

—Walter E. 2:10 has won $10,250 so far this year, the largest amount ever won by a horse in one circuit.

—At a sale of Poland China hogs at Edinburg, Ill., Sept. 20th, 73 head, some spring pigs, brought an average of $33.

—J. H. Pepples, Jr., bought here yesterday 6 mule colts, three mares and three horses, at $45 for the horses and $50 for the mares.

—Alex 2:07½ will not likely start in a race again soon and probably never will. She will try to beat Nancy Hanks' record in exhibition miles. —Directum, 2:06½; Guy 2:09½; Hulda, 2:08½; Little Albert, 2:10; Magnolia 2:10 Pixley 2:09½ and Walter E., 2:10, are the new 2:10 trotters of the year.

—Blankets are entirely discarded at the Stony Ford Farm both summer and winter. It is believed that the general health of the animal is improved by the experiment.

—Capt. Harper, of Lebanon, Tenn., says that from a jennet that cost him $65 he has sold two colts for $1,600 and the jennet herself for $360, a profit of $1,895. It pays to raise jack stock.

—William Moreland bought of Grove C. Kennedy 12 butcher cattle at 2 to 2½c, and a load of hogs at 5½c. He bought of various parties 260 lambs at 2 to 3c per pound, also a few 1,100 pound feeders at 3 cents.

—Bidding was slow on the household and kitchen furniture and farming implements offered by M. E. Cox and poor prices were realized. Horses sold at $30 to $92; 1 colt for $16.25 and a mule colt for $17.50. Corn in the field brought $1.70 per barrel.

—Director's Flower, the heretofore unbeaten 2-year-old, was distanced at Evansville last week by Gus Macey's Cut Glass. Best time 2:20½. Cut Glass is by Onward and she is said to have been the only 2-year-old that Director's Flower's owner feared.

—A very large crowd attended court yesterday, but the business done was not in correspondence. There were some 50 cattle on the market and most of them sold. Mountain cattle brought from 1½ to 2½; butcher stuff 2 to 2½; feeders $30. A few horses changed hands at $17 to $58.

—The Kentucky Futurity for two-year-olds, worth $5,000, was won at Lexington Saturday by Nellie A.; Ella Woodline, second. Best time 2:20½. Pamlico won the 2:15 class, with Hazel Wilkes second. Best time 2:11½. Dr. Sparks, the former great campaigner, was distanced in the third and last heat. In the 2:11 class May Marshall won in straight heats, Blanch Louise second. Best time 2:09. Spencer Wilkes beat Jay Morse and a field full in the 2:35 class. Best time 2:28. The fast time in all of the races shows that the reconstruction of the track has helped it wonderfully and also that the crack horses of the land are at Lexington.

SUPP. W. F. McCLARY has received a check from the treasurer for $6,790.84 with which to pay the 40 per cent. due teachers and this is to notify them that he will be ready to disburse next Saturday, 14th.

THE Danville Advocate is respectfully informed that the Keeley cure in Lincoln county is maintained for the benefit of prohibition towns like Danville and Lancaster, where, singularly enough, a large number of cases of the whisky habit are contracted. If this county has ever had a patient there we have failed to hear of it.

AFTER 15 courts had taken cognizance of the murder by H. C. Passmore of Richard Paxton at Harrodsburg, at a cost to the State of $30,000, he was acquitted Saturday. The first jury stood seven for life imprisonment, four for hanging and one for acquittal. Verily the law's delay is the criminal's hope of finally getting out of its meshes.

COL. SILAS ADAMS has introduced a bill to pay Gen. T. T. Garrard, of Manchester, $13,799.70 for his salt works and 30,000 bushels of salt destroyed by order of Gen. Buell 29 years ago this month. A number of other beneficiaries are named in the bill, whose claims run from $500 to $10,000. The colonel thinks the claims are just and will use every effort to secure favorable action on them.

RAPE.—Willie Hansford, a negro boy of 16, was tried Saturday for criminally assaulting Mollie Brooks, a dilapidated and very soiled white woman of the town, and held in $100 to circuit court to answer. There is not thought to be much in the case, though even a woman of the Brook's standing have rights that a negro or white man either for that matter, dare not attempt to abridge.

A LARGE number of the Odd Fellows here will go to the meeting of the Grand Lodge at Lexington to-day, leaving on the 3:23 A. M. train, escorted by the Uniformed Stanford Gold Band. They will be joined at Danville by the lodge there, which will pay half the cost of the band. A big day is expected, as Gus Jaubert furnishes the burgoon and other things to tickle the inner man and the Lexington lodge is going to put the big pot in the little one.

THE Pineville Messenger conveys this unpleasant information: Mr. Edward H. Jones, the well-known groceryman of this place, filed a deed of assignment on Tuesday last, his brother, J. Cabell Jones being made assignee. The liabilities are estimated at about $2,500 and assets somewhat smaller, consisting of a lot of outstanding accounts and the stock of goods remaining in the store. Ed Jones came here from Stanford about the first of the present year and opened a grocery store and butcher's shop. He always kept a first-class stock on hand and did a good business. The credit system, however, proved too much for the prosperity of his business.

NUMEROUS wills were admitted to probate in the county court yesterday. D. G. Slaughter made a long one dated March 3, 1884, but in a codicil bearing date of Jan. 1, 1889, he revokes it all and leaves his property unconditionally to his wife, Mary E. Slaughter, whom he appoints executrix without security. Considerable claims being presented against the estate, Hill & McRoberts, as counsel for the owners of them, moved that Mrs. Slaughter be required to give security and the matter was continued until she could do so. The will of Leslie B. Wilson was proved by subscribing witnesses. W. S. and N. A. Garner qualified as administrators of L. D. Garner, Sheriff J. N. Menefee of Mrs. Sallie Parsons and W. G. Haggard of Gentry Haggard. W. S. Burch was given a certificate of honesty and probity preparatory to application for law license.

CASHIER J. W. HOCKER tells us that stock in the Hustonville National sold last week at $141.

THE bridge at Pottinger's creek has been rebuilt and traffic has been resumed without the transfer.

IT was 31 years ago Sunday since the famous battle of Perryville, the severest in this section, was fought.

MARSHAL DEVER, of Hustonville, and Beecher Adams brought Jim Baldock to jail yesterday to serve 10 days and pay a fine of $25 for drawing a pistol on J. W. Allen.

WE are after you with a fine line of wedding presents in sterling and silver plate just in this afternoon. Come and see even if you don't want to buy. Danks the Jeweler.

THERE was never a little business done at a county court where so many people attended as here yesterday. People, who have the money, put up a tale of woe about the hard times, and kept it in their pockets.

TWO KILLED.—The Knoxville Branch of the L. & N. has suffered another terrible accident. Friday morning about 4:30 o'clock, as freight No. 32 was coming down the New Hope Grade, it broke in three pieces, the caboose stopping on Pottinger's Creek bridge. In it was sleeping Engineer Andrew Burke in charge of the two dead engineers which collided near Hazel Patch. Another section of 32 was following close and before the signal could be given engine 292, with Tommy Higgins at the throttle, struck it under a full head of steam. It knocked it off the bridge and went down itself, carrying Mr. Higgins and Mr. Burke to an awful death. The engine and 12 cars were piled in a confused mass at the bottom of the creek and it was 12 hours or more before the bodies were found. Fireman Joe Rout, of Rowland, was on the second section and jumped when he saw the danger, but Engineer Higgins refused to do so, saying he could knock off the caboose. Mr. Higgins was one of three brothers, all railroad men, and was an excellent young man. Mr. Burke was also a good man. He lived in Louisville and leaves a wife and three children. Mr. Higgins was unmarried. Len Parsons was conductor on the first and Wm. Butcher on the second section. The bridge was badly damaged and all passenger trains for 72 hours had to transfer.

THE best people of the town attended the entertainment given at Walton's Opera House by the Heywood Celebrities, Saturday night, but there were not a sufficient number of them, however, to swell the receipts to the amount the managers had guaranteed, and as usual they were left with the bag to hold. Some how or other our people will not patronize as well as they should performances of this kind, although they be first-class in every particular as the Heywoods were. It was indeed a musical and eloquent treat and all who attended enjoyed it thoroughly, for each of the performers is a star of great magnitude. Miss Mary Rose Hughes has a clear, sweet, dramatic soprano voice, thoroughly trained and her rendition of Il Sogno and Angela's Serenade was the refinement of melody. In the latter we think, however, that the violin obligata is played too loudly for perfect accord and we would suggest that Prof. Neidzieleski, who is a great musician, use a mute on his violin. Miss Hughes is a lady of rare beauty, in fact all the ladies of the company are very handsome. In addition to a clear and resonant contralto voice, which she uses with the force of an accomplished artist, Miss Gertrude Righter is a reader of remarkable elocutionary ability and her contributions to the evening's entertainment were thoroughly appreciated. She is remarkably gifted in personal charms and became exceedingly popular with the audience. Miss Belle Daily has a rich mezzo-soprano voice of remarkable volume though sympathetic and touching. She is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, which has never turned out an inferior pupil. One of her encore songs, "Swinging in the Grape Vine Swing," is a very catching little production and she sings it most acceptably. Miss Henrietta Zimmerman is a very excellent cornetist as well as a capital pianist. She has a fine stage presence and is a real mistress of the instrument she uses. Miss Katherine Crawford, the pianist and reader, is possessed of decided talent and is sure to become a favorite. The violinist, Herr C. J. Neidzieleski, is a superior performer as his rendition of several difficult pieces demonstrated. The instrument fairly talks under his manipulation and his efforts were roundly applauded as were those of the entire company, all of whom gracefully responded to the loud and long encores. It was an evening of rare enjoyment and the management is glad that it afforded the people the opportunity of attending even at a pecuniary loss. Mrs. Wm. Heywood manages the company and the Walton Bros. found her a very satisfactory lady with whom to do business.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Elizabeth Elkins, the daughter of ex-Secretary Elkins, is to marry Mr. E. F. Bruner, a prominent New York stock broker.

—Five hundred invitations have been issued to the marriage of Miss Louise Bailey to Mr. H. D. Gregory, which occurs at the Christian church at 10 A. M., Oct. 18.

—The marriage of Mr. William Severance, of this place, to Miss Mary Carroll Pickett is announced to occur at the home of her father, Col. Jas. A. Pickett, in Shelby county, Nov. 1. Miss Annie Shanks is to be maid of honor and Eld. Joe Severance, Jr., best man.

—Miss Bettie, daughter of Mr. Wm. McCormack, played her parents a trick the other day. She left home, saying that she would visit a relative before leaving for Texas to teach school, but instead she met her lover, Ben Bryan, and went with him to Danville, where they were married at the Clemens House. They then left for the World's Fair and are now enjoying their honeymoon there. The bride is a very fine young lady, quite pretty and calculated to make a good wife. Mr. Bryan is a worthy young carpenter, who stands very highly in the estimation of all who know him.

—The Massachusetts Republican convention nominated ex-Congressman Greenhalge, the candidate of the State machine, for Governor.

—The old Metropolitan Theater building, Louisville, was nearly destroyed by fire. The first floor was occupied as a livery stable by E. I. Everson & Co. About fifty-four horses were roasted alive.

—PERSONALLY Senator Goebel is sullen, morose, uncompanionable, envious, dictatorial and vindictive. His predominant sentiment is selfishness, his most prominent characteristic, mendacity. —Covington Commonwealth.

HOW THEY PARTED.

She had laid her subtlest snares To entrap him unawares In the ballroom on the stairs She had cornered him that night. He could not escape her clutch. Though he wanted to—so much! Under circumstances such There was only hope in flight.

Meanwhile he was forced to prance With her through the dreamy dance O'er the ballroom's gay expanse, Vainly striving to be gay. Just because she chanced to be Daughter of his hostess, he Had to bear her tyranny. Wishing he was miles away.

When at last he gained the door, Eager to be free once more, Radiant was the smile she wore As she softly said, "Goodby." Adding in a whisper low, While her cheeks were all aglow, "Tomorrow I'll be home, you know!" "Ah," he answered, "So will I." —Once a Week.

The Wrong Man.

"Isn't this my old friend Gabriel Comstock of Franklin Furnace?" said the smiling young man, approaching the stranger and extending his hand. "No, sir," replied the stranger. "My name is Thomas Easley, and I'm from Wheelersburg."

"I beg your pardon," rejoined the other politely, "but the resemblance is so extraordinary that I thought I could not be mistaken."

"That's all right. There's no harm done," said the stranger, passing on.

A few minutes later he was accosted by another smiling young man who met him at a street corner and stopped in great apparent astonishment.

"Why, how are you, Tom? Bless me, who would have thought of seeing you here?"

"Guess you're mistaken, young fellow."

"Mistaken? Not much! I'd know you a mile off. You're Thomas Easley of Wheelersburg. Used to call you Tom when we were boys together."

"No, you didn't. My name isn't Easley, and I don't know where Wheelersburg is."

"You're not Tom Easley?"

"No, sir. I never heard of Tom Easley. My name is Absalom Reinhart, and I live in Greenup."

The smiling young man withdrew in evident perplexity.

"Must have got switched off on some other fellow," he muttered as he turned another corner. "But it's all right. Mr. Reinhart will do just as well."

Meantime the stranger pursued his way leisurely down the street, and five minutes later he was confronted by a third young man with an engaging smile.

"Hello! Why, this is my old friend, Absalom Reinhart. How are you, Ab?"

"I don't know you, sir. My name is not Absalom Reinhart, and I don't know anything about Greenup. Never heard of it in my life."

"Say! Who are you anyhow?"

The stranger handed him his card. It bore the following inscription:

REV. BEN THAYER,
 Evangelist and Reformed Confidence Man.

—Chicago Tribune.

Admitted.

A fragile woman sat in the dock. She was charged with a crime.

Her glance was fixed with burning intensity upon the witness about to take the oath.

"Do you swear?"

The room was still as death save for the solemn tones of the court.

"To tell the whole truth?"

The prisoner gasped and strained forward, with colorless lips and protruding eyes.

"Yes."

An awful shriek rent the air. The accused had started wildly to her feet.

"Undone, undone," she cried frantically. "Say, oh, say!"

With arms extended she begged piteously.

"not the whole truth. I will confess. I will confess the worst. I was!"

She shuddered and clung to the rail for support.

"thirty-five years old last month."

Sinking again upon the seat, she buried her face in her hands.—Detroit Tribune.

None Left.

A seedy man of letters dropped into a cheap restaurant in London recently and called for his British beef. It duly came, but had palpably passed its first youth. The man of letters called the waiter and delivered himself freely of his feelings.

"We never has no complaints, sir," said the waiter, feebly defensive. "Very likely," growled he of the meat, "for that old cow had 'em all. Bring me some mutton and be something to you."—Argonaut.

An Appropriate Query.

Papa—Good gracious, what a point of interrogation you are! I am sure I didn't ask such strings of questions when I was a boy.

Son—Don't you think if you had done so you would be able to answer some of mine?—Tit-Bits.

The One In Danger.

"The hammock fell with me last night."

"Was Jack hurt?"—Life.

Deteriorating.

"Henry," she said, "I find four gray hairs in your head."

"Yes, Maude," he rejoined sadly, "I am rapidly drifting toward a silver basis."—Detroit Tribune.

Big Jim Apologized.

"Big Jim" Carter, the famous Nevada fighter, died the other day. Mark Twain in "Roughing It" tells a story of his prowess. Twain's account well illustrates the quiet but deep determination of the man. One evening Carter entered a restaurant and unintentionally sat down on the hat of a tall and athletic hot blooded young gentleman, who was with two or three other equally hot spirited companions.

When Carter realized what he had done, he apologized, straightened the hat out to the best of his ability and gave his assurance on his honor as a gentleman that it was not an intentional affront, and in a few modest words endeavored to appease the wrath of the young man, who was in fact a worthy citizen, though a trifle inexperienced. The man with the broken hat insisted that it was an outrage that could not be forgiven, and taking off his coat challenged the stranger to combat.

"If we must fight, we must, I suppose," said Carter slowly, as if undecided what to do. "I don't like the idea, though, for I don't believe the whole lot of you would have any chance with me. Let me show you something."

Quietly sitting down at the big table, he took hold of it with his teeth, and bracing his knees against the lower part of the table raised it and its contents, a big dinner for four, roast and all, and with his horse load stood erect.

When he put the table on the floor without spilling a drop from the well filled glasses, there was an oppressive silence, which he broke by saying:

"I have already apologized. My name is Carter. Let's all take a drink."

Nobody then refused.—San Francisco Chronicle.

—Mrs. Belle Rogers, of Louisville, who has been pronounced of unsound mind, labors under the peculiar hallucination that she is 1,500 years old.

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you. When this remedy is taken as soon as a cold has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it is the only remedy that will do this. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, liquefying the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly.

For sale by W. B. McRoberts, Druggist, Stanford.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Binding, of Halsey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow."

For sale by W. B. McRoberts, Druggists, Stanford, Ky.

"I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known cases and am sure I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." J. J. LaGrange, druggist, Avoca, Neb.
